THE EX-PRESIDENT.

SAD AND IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES AT ARTHUR'S FUNERAL.

The President, Governor Hill, and Other Distinguished Men Present.

NEW YORK, November 22.—Hundreds of sorrowing people began to gather at an early hour, anxious to testify by their presence the respect they bore to their deceased fellow-citizen and former Chief Magistrate. Shortly after 7 A. M., Inspector Steers, with Captain Ryan and 125 police, silently marched into Lexington avenue, followed by Captain Garling and a picked body of thirty men from the Broadway squad.

The hour set for the funeral was 9 o'clock, but at 7 o'clock a large number of people had gathered in front of the church. At that time several workmen were engaged in putting finishing touches on the drapery and placing labels in the pews, designating where each organization would be stationed. A few minutes before 8 o'clock the doors were opened, and those without were admitted. The ushers were stationed at the doors, and showed people to their seats. The ushers were Major J. B. Fasset, John H. Draper, General Martin T. McMahon, General Henry A. Barnum, General Anson G. Cook, and Erastus S. Ransom.

Carriages began to arrive from every direction, and soon the side streets were filled with them. By 8 o'clock a vast throng, numbering many thousands of people, had gathered on the opposite side of the avenue, extending for a block or more in every direction. The crowd was kept back by the police. On every face there was and people spoke only in low tones. President Cleveland and Postmaster-General Vilas arrived in a carriage direct from the train at 8:20 A. M., and entered the house of mourning. Many people uncovered their heads when the President stepped out of his carriage. Shortly after Governor Hill and Judge William Muller arrived, and also alighted from their carriage and entered the house. They were followed by the Senate committee.

At 8:30 o'clock the casket was borne out of the house. There was no military music or procession, but a mighty throng of sorrowing people bore witness to their love and respect for the deceased statesman. Next came out of the residence Chester Allan Arthur, Jr., son of the ex-President. Leaning on his arm, clad in garments of mourning, was his sister, Miss Nellie Arthur. They passed quietly to their carriage, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. McElroy. Then came Mrs. Caws, Mrs. Haynesworth, and Miss Arthur, sister of the ex-President, Postmaster Masten and his wife, of Cohoes, with their son and daughter.

NO DISPLAY OF POMP OR CEREMONY,

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND,

Postmaster-General Vilas, General Martin T. McMahon, and John H. Draper, Secretaries Bayard, Whitney and Lamar, the pall-bearers, ex-Postmaster-General Gresham, ex-Secretaries Lincoln and Chandler, ex-Assistant Postmaster-General Hatton, ex-Attorney-General Brewster, Lieutenant-General Sheridan, Dr. Cornelius R. Agnew, Cornelius N. Bliss, Robert G. Dun, General George H. Sharpe, Charles L. Tiffany and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Chief-Justice Waite and Justices Harlan and Blanchford, Senators Edmunds, Sherman, Logan, Everts, Hawley, Morrill, Vest, and Gorman, General Stone, and Governor Hill. The but over one hundred carriages filled with friends who had been unable to gain admission to the house followed the procession to the church. The procession passed between long lines of police through Lexington-avenue to Thirty-fourth street, to Madison-avenue, to Forty-seventh street, to Fifth-avenue, arriving at the church corner of Forty-fifth street and Fifth-avenue at 8:50 A. M. Carriages passed noiselessly by lines of artillerymen and marines formed in line and the mourners alighted and entered the church. All along the line were immense throngs of people who waited in respectful silence while the funeral passed.

Behind the pall-bearers on the left were the President and members of his Cabinet; ex-President Hayes, Judges of the Supreme Court, senatorial committee, House of Representatives' committee, Governor and staff, Mayor and Aldermen of New York; Mayor and Aldermen of Boston; Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston; Republican Central Committee. On the right centre aisle friends of the family and diplomatic corps. On the right side of the left aisle were seated the Army and Navy representatives, rector, wardens and vestry and representative men. On the left side of the right aisle representatives of the Union League Club, Chamber of Commerce, Stock Exchange, Loyal Legion, Cotton Exchange, Produce Exchange, and Maritime Association.

At the portals of the church the casket was met by the surpliced choir, followed by the

CLERGY WEARING THEIR COLLEGIATE HOODS.

They were Rev. Dr. Parker Morgan, pastor of the church; Rev. F. W. Babcock, assistant minister; Rev. Dr. Ramsford, rector of St. George's; Rev. Dr. Leonard, rector of St. John's church, Washington, D. C.; Rev. McKay Smith, St. Thomas'; Rev. Dr. Humphreys, precentor of Cathedral Incarnate, Garden City, formerly assistant minister of the Church of Heavenly Rest.

As the casket was borne into the church the choir formed into two files and the clergymen passed between them, heading the procession, intoning the opening lines of the beautiful Episcopal service. The casket was borne up the aisle on the shoulders of four undertaker's assistants, followed by the pall-bearers, the family, and immediate friends. When the procession reached the chancel the choristers formed into the stalls and the audience took their seats.

The burial services of the Episcopal Church were then read.

THE PROCESSION TO THE DEPOT.

The procession to the Grand Central depot moved in the following order: detachment of police, detachment of United States troops, detachment of sailors from the navy, United States soldiers and sailors, pall-bearers in carriages, mourners in carriages, President Cleveland and members of the Cabinet in carriages, members of Congress and friends of the family.

The funeral train consisted of the funeral car "Woodlawn," Mr. Vanderbilt's palace car, the drawing-room car "Aroostook" and one other car, making four cars in the train.

The train was not draped. The mourners and pall-bearers at once took their seats while the President and the committee of Congress together with such of the pall-bearers as could not go to Albany, drew up in line on the platform and awaited the departure of the train. At 10:10 the train began to move slowly out.

In a moment every head was uncovered, and in a few minutes the train bearing the body of the ex-President was on its way to Albany. The remains will be interred in the Rural cemetery. After its departure the President and other distinguished people entered their carriages and were driven off.

THE INTERMENT.

ALBANY, N. Y., November 22.—The funeral train arrived at 1:23 and the remains were at once taken to the cemetery. Arriving at the grave, the Right Rev. William Crosswell Doane, Bishop of Albany, in the full robes of his office, stepped to the evergreen-lined grave and taking some earth from that thrown up from the opening, dropped three handfuls on the oaken board of the outer box and recited the beautiful committal service of the Episcopal Church. At its conclusion the bishop offered prayer, and pronounced the benediction. Earth was thrown into the grave and pressed down, and left hands covered the newly-made mound with sheets of sod.

Useless Commotion.

NEW YORK, November 22.—After the funeral services great excitement was caused by the announcement that the President's life had been attempted. It seems that Nathan Schuler, who was arrested at the Albany bi-centennial for an alleged attempt on the President's life, endeavored to reach the President's carriage to assure him, as he told a reporter, that he had had no such intention. A detective rushed for him, but he escaped in the crowd.

Jefferson Davis at a Church Dedication.

LOUISVILLE, November 22.—Yesterday, at Fairview, there was dedicated a Baptist church, erected on the site of the building where Jefferson Davis was born. Jefferson Davis was present and there was an immense crowd. After the sermon Mr. Davis was invited to the pulpit, and, bent with age, and supported to the stand, he made a few appropriate remarks, closing as follows:

"May He, who rules in Heaven, bless individually and collectively this whole community, and may His benediction rest on this house forever. More than this it would be improper for me to say."

Cleveland's Candidacy.

CHICAGO, ILL., November 22.—A Washington special to the News says: Representative Springer, of Illinois, was interviewed last night regarding the national campaign of 1888. He thinks Mr. Cleveland is essentially a candidate. "If there is a labor candidate for the presidency in 1888," says Mr. Springer, "as is likely, it will disturb all conditions and upset all calculations."

The Star that Never Sets.

TRENTON, November 22.—All of the reports of the disputed Assembly District in the State have been finished except one, and the result does not alter the slight Democratic majority in the Legislature as it appeared on the day after the election.

NEWSY NOTES.

ACCIDENTS AND INCIDENTS FROM ALL SECTIONS BY TELEGRAPH.

A Day's Record of Crimes and Casualties—A Probable Suicide, &c.

Probable Suicide.

OWASSA, Mo., November 22.—After drawing his salary Saturday at the Casket works where he was employed, Harvey Rowland, twenty-two years of age, hired a livery rig and went to the country. Nothing more was heard of him here until 1 o'clock Sunday morning, when the horse and carriage returned to the barn with Rowland sitting on the carriage-seat dead—a bullet hole in his temple and a revolver in his lap. The horse came in at an easy gate and not at all as though excited by any undue occurrence. A coroner's inquest was begun, but adjourned until this morning. The affair occasions much talk and numerous theories, but it is probably a case of suicide.

A Tenement House Tragedy.

CHICAGO, November 22.—In a tenement house on North Ashland-avenue yesterday afternoon Mrs. Emma Smith, nineteen years old, and only recently married, was shot dead by Charles Gregor, a dissipated bar-tender, whose advances she refused. Gregor committed suicide immediately afterward. The woman's husband, in a moment of passion left her a few days ago, and Gregor made advances to her. Saturday they made up again. Smith left her that evening to go to work, and a few minutes later Gregor came in very drunk. He was greatly enraged when he heard of the reconciliation, and without a word of warning shot Mrs. Smith.

The Dead Levied On.

CHATTANOOGA, TENN., November 22.—Dr. Knox, of Hamilton county, was found dead in bed at Hot Springs, Ark., a week ago. His body was held at Dorsey for express charges, which were considered exorbitant. On Saturday the body was replevined by the coroner and buried. It is rumored here that Dr. Knox met with foul play. He had $600 the day before his death, but when the body was found the money was missing. No investigation of the cause of his death was made. An officer from here will go West to inquire into the matter.

A Frightful Death.

FORT KEOGH, MONT., November 22.—News has been received that on last Tuesday the remains of Jim Swan, alias Jack Sheppard, prince of the Northwestern highwaymen, was found among the Big Horn mountains. He escaped sometime ago from the sheriff while handcuffed and was never caught afterwards. He died from starvation, as his manacled condition prevented him from securing food. A knife, and a revolver with the chambers empty were found beside him.

The Georgia Knights.

ATLANTA, GA., November 22.—Mr. Schofield, one of the members of the Legislature elected by the Knights of Labor, has introduced a bill embodying the demands of the order. It limits factory labor to ten hours per day, prohibits black-listing of discharged employees, under penalty of the employers being responsible for damage for loss of wages of the blacklisted men, and requires as long notice of discharge as the men are obliged to give to the employers of their desire to quit. Mr. Schofield also says the convict-lease system must go.

Very Liberal Terms.

PITTSBURG, PA., November 22.—The result of the deliberations of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad in reference to the demand for an advance in wages from the freight employees was posted today at Cleveland and Bellaire. Freight conductors who have received $2.60 per trip will now receive $2.90; brakemen are raised from $1.70 to $1.90—an allowance for over time in excess of twelve hours. It is thought the men will accept this scale.

Biscoe Convicted.

PORT TOBACCO, MD., November 22. John B. Biscoe was Saturday night convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of Captain R. B. Dixon, in September last, on board the schooner Mary J. The murder, which was particularly brutal, was committed while the schooner was in Machodoc creek, Va., and was simply done for the purpose of stealing the captain's clothing.

Bishop Curtis Installed.

WILMINGTON, DEL., Nov. 23.—Bishop Alfred A. Curtis was installed at St. Peter's Pro Cathedral yesterday morning in the presence of as many of his new parishioners as could gain admission. An excursion train brought some two hundred of the Bishop's old parishioners from Baltimore. Cardinal Gibbons preached the installation sermon.
